

OWINGSVILLE OUTLOOK.

OWINGSVILLE, KY.
SI PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.
THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1901.

Every business communication must be addressed to THE OUTLOOK PUBLISHING CO., OWINGSVILLE, KY., else we will not be responsible for it.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.
We are authorized to announce E. E. Peck, of Sharpburg, as a candidate for the Legislature from the Bath Rowan district, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR MAGISTRATE.
We are authorized to announce Butler Toy as a candidate to succeed himself as Magistrate in the Wyoming Magisterial district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce Frank C. Williams, of Moore's Ferry, for magistrate in the White Sulphur district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce Geo. W. Rizer, of Hensley Mill, as a candidate for the nomination for Magistrate in the White Sulphur district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

West Point cadets now have the choice of ceasing hazing or being dismissed. The action of the authorities meets the wishes of the people.

The South is congratulating itself because New Orleans has passed Boston and become the next to the largest export port in the United States.

Uncle Sam acts like he has designs on the catch-as-catch-can championship belt worn by John Bull by reason of his exploits among weaker people.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson says he would not only decline a nomination for Governor, but would decline to serve if elected. And he is an Ohio man too!

The wind is sweeping rapidly from the Texas oil boom and the people interested are figuring earnestly on what the vast abundance of fuel oil amounts to practically.

McKinley's sitting down on Grosvenor will do the latter a power of good, for he has been carrying around of late years more than the law's allowance of political conceit.

Since President McKinley has declared that he would not accept a nomination for a third term Senator Dewey and Congressman Grosvenor, who both declared for him for a third term, feel as cheap as if they had been given away.

Secessionist aspirations of Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana, are meeting obstructions early. Some of the other leaders of that State have agreed that he must give up his chances for re-election to the Senate if he wants the united support of Indiana.

Each new U. S. battleship on her trial trip breaks the record for speed in her class, which speaks well for all hands around. The Illinois made a record of 17.31 knots per hour last week and will be the Queen of the Navy until the next sister ship makes her run.

"GOLDEN RULE" Sam Jones, Mayor of Toledo, Ohio, says the only hope of better government is through making the masses of the people better. As an abstract proposition Jones may not be far wrong, but his idea is to make the people better through a species of State socialism.

Success by jumping from the Cincinnati Suspension Bridge has become too much of a fad with girls. If it could be impressed on them that the sight of a woman falling from the bridge to the water is superlatively unbecoming and positively ridiculous the girls would not take to it so readily.

Capt. Robert E. Impey, of the U. S. Navy, San Francisco, believed it right to beat down a dentist's prices by a subterfuge because of the high price of dental work. He asked a reduction in his bill, and announced that it would be subject to Government inspection. The trick caused Impey to be court-martialed, reduced ten numbers and publicly reprimanded.

The honorary degree of LL. D. conferred by institutions of learning on persons who are not Doctors of Law in fact perhaps neither harms nor helps anybody, though some minor concerns suit to advertise themselves by conferring it on distinguished persons. In Andrew Carnegie's case the Glasgow (Scotland) University did it simply in recognition of his great gift to the Scottish universities.

If the United States had boldly gone and made a conquest of Cuba it would have been an act of plain robbery, but one of the same moral brand as the European powers have been accustomed to indulge in. But to get into Cuba in the guise of a friend and invited guest and after getting the Cubans completely in its power to tell them to go ahead and play at the game of independence with the United States as umpire and inevitable penalty of entire confiscation at the umpire's will is about the height of national depravity. When Cuba is annexed by this process a status of Uriah Heep ought to displace that of the God-dess of Liberty on the Capitol at Washington.

This G. A. R. has made Mark Hanna a Colonel. For a man of Mark's eminence it ought to have been a General or nothing. Most any chunk of a fellow can get to be an ornamental Colonel, and, to quote Mark's own words when Dewey was suggested for President, it is "indecent" to make a man of mark like Mark a paltry Colonel.

K. Kono, Ind., has a sensational love match of the December-May order. Milton Garrigus, aged 70, Department commander of the Indiana G. A. R., and Miss Marie Thomas, aged 17, an orphan, want to wed each other, but the girl's uncle Henry Edwards has had a personal encounter with Garrigus over it, and her guardian, Ross Thomas, has taken the girl to his home to prevent the match.

Miss Marie Aletta Lent, of Toledo, Ohio, contributed to the gayety of the times by bringing a suit to have Lawyer John P. Delphy enjoined from making love to her. Delphy furnished his quota by consenting that he be enjoined as she asked and also that she be enjoined from "hanging around" the stairway to his office and from speaking to him when they meet in society.

Bryan, with a dash of sarcasm, asks the gold-standard Democrats why they don't advocate the nomination of Justice John M. Harlan, and answers himself by saying they would not do so because Harlan is a Republican who has made a splendid record by deciding against the Sugar Trust, for the Income Tax, and against imperialism. Harlan would make an excellent President, though he would act the honest Republican strictly under the Constitution.

The American team of crack trapshooters that went to London to shoot a five-days' series of matches at clay pigeons with a British team won the match by taking the first three days straight, although conditions were more difficult than the Americans were accustomed to and the surroundings were all unfamiliar. It is no doubt, galling to the British to be beaten by the Americans on all parts of the ground, but they take it like the game sports they are.

Quay's Legislature, in Pennsylvania, signaling its closing days by rushing through charters giving privileges in Philadelphia to traction companies that John W. Wana-maker offered the Mayor $2,500,000 for. The Quay gang rule and loot the State pretty much at their pleasure. The Republican can't make a great success of calling the Democratic kettle black; the one's Quayites are as much of a party disgrace as the other's Tammany.

A Mr. Swinart and his bride on their return to Vanlue, O., from their wedding trip were chartered. They refused to appear, and serenader invaded the bridal room and got knocked down and thrown out of the window unconscious. Swinart then took a crack at the crowd with a pistol, and they talk of whitewashing him. The rural bridegroom frequently has to stand too much horse play and when one rebels he is not to blame.

A $300,000,000 Coal Trust is forming, to include the mines in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The combination of the Indiana mines is going ahead rapidly. The Illinois mines will be added next, and then the others in turn. Only a Grain or Bread Trust is lacking to have the people beset by the trusts on every side. Air and water are too abundant to be controlled by trusts.

The Hanna regime is good anyhow for some years yet, and when the test is made it will be Hanna first, the rest nowhere. Miss Ruth Hanna, daughter of Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, has accepted an invitation to christen the fine U. S. cruiser Cleveland, building at Bath, Maine. Mayor Thomas L. Johnson refused in his daughter's behalf the honor of pressing the button to start the launching. A dispatch says the Hanna social prestige at Cleveland surpasses that of Johnson.

The Virginia Democrats got tired of the Martin machine, that was run in the interests of U. S. Senators Martin and Daniels and seven out of the ten Congressmen. Swann's candidate for Governor, Martin, was badly defeated in the primaries by a victory by General Montague, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's friend. The people have been laying for Martin ever since he played snap machine politics and defeated Lee for Senator some years ago. Montague or Lee will likely succeed Martin in the Senate. Lee has a good thing already, being a retired Brigadier General of the U. S. Army with pay the balance of his life, but he can go to the U. S. Senate if he wants to now. Montague's victory is a popular one everywhere.

The official utterances of President McKinley in regard to "criminal aggression," etc., before the war with Spain are right interesting now. A correspondent who seems to have access to inside information at Washington says the Government is preparing to tell the Cubans that they are at war since their adoption of the Platt amendment. It is that that United States is to occupy the Havana, Santiago, Cienfuegos, Matanzas and Guantanamo fortifications and use any or all those ports as naval stations; the hint is to be given indirectly that the Cubans are expected to maintain no military except a mere police force. It means that the United States is to stand over Cuba with a military force to use any pretext of disorder to seize and annex the Island. If an individual acted as the United States he would be justly called an unequalled rascal.

Some of the chickens are coming home to roost already. Chamberlain, the most aggressive official British imperialist, has decided to levy $250,000,000 tax on the Transvaal gold mines to help pay the cost of the Boer war. The war was mostly caused by the British owners of those mines. When knavery has to be paid for by the knaves there is no reason for just people to shed tears.

Instead of taking to the solitude of tail timber until his third-term break was forgotten, Chauncey Dewey is plying as a cricket, and, after outgiving Mark Hanna as one of the greatest and best that ever was, he is for Odell and Roosevelt for President. Chauncey will get himself prosecuted for bigamy or something if he nominates two at a clatter. Chauncey's tongue has become a very unruly member and will sprain itself yet if it keeps on.

It seems hard that in an age when there is a premium on hustling two hustlers like the postmasters of Louisville and Indianapolis should be turned down. They got the patrons of their offices to buy stamps enough to bring the receipts of the offices up to over $500,000 per year, with the expectation of the offices being put in the first class, an increase of salary for the postmasters and certain employees and also an increased salary. Uncle Sam said the thing wasn't right and refused the advance.

The Cuban Constitutional convention acceded to the United States' demands by a vote of 16 to 11 without any qualifications what-so-ever. It was that or worse with the Cubans, and they gave in. But what a time they will have establishing a government "stable" enough to suit a power hungry for a supposed tidbit like the "Gem of the Antilles." Esop didn't record it in his celebrated fable that the hawk invited by the doves into the dove-cote to protect them against the kite went away before he was satiated with dove meat.

The American Telegraph and Telephone Co., which recently built a line through the Panama canal, increased its capital stock from $100,000 to $150,000,000. It was the Bell Co. originally. Its subsidiary companies have also increased their capital stock to over $50,000,000. However, the independent companies are multiplying and have an aggregate capital stock of many millions. The fight for local business between the American or some of its branches and the independent companies in some cities is right interesting.

It is persistently rumored that Pierpont Morgan is going to take hold of and build the Panama canal. Morgan hasn't yet done any great work in the actual construction line, but has made his great reputation in the line of business combinations. His genius may lie in construction. The canal is a vast and very risky undertaking considered as a business investment. It is to be owned by a canal will be built by private capital, and if Morgan wants an enduring fame he can secure it by building the canal and making it pay a fair interest on the necessary capital.

FRANK G. CARPENTER, the noted traveling correspondent, writes that in New South Wales, Australia, the Minister of Labor admits that there is one government employee to every forty people, and Carpenter figures that in the same proportion the United States would have 2,000,000,000 employees, all voters and each with personal friends and influence. It would be impossible almost to turn it off of office, no matter what its abuse of power.

HENRY SAVAGE LANDOR, a reliable English authority, pays the American soldier in China high compliments, but says he was a looter just like the rest and a vandal that had the same effect as an earthquake on the priceless porcelain and other fine art goods in a wealthy Chinaman's home. Folks in America have been praising their soldier boys for their abstention from looting. The Japanese, then, were the only soldiers there who behaved as civilized soldiers ought to all along the line, although the Japanese are traditional, and until recently, when Japan defeated China, were despised enemies of the Chinese. Christendom is disgraced by the record made in China. Pieces of loot in the form of antique wares are making their way to U. S. museums, and are said to be coming through missionary and U. S. official sources. Maybe Uncle Sam will restore them with apologies. Mark Twain ought to hit 'em again.

The Republicans have been casting around for an available candidate for County Judge. While I have no say in it, all the information gained from a non-partisan standpoint is that Clarence McAlister is decidedly the choice of the people.

The true Populist is the man who heard the groans of suffering humanity, who saw the cruel and unrighteous oppression of those in power, who saw the burdens that were laid on the weak, while the privileges and favors were given to those who bore no burdens. He is the man who heard the plaintive song and saw the drooping shoulders of those who were compelled to dig and toil, and dig, and dig, to enrich some other man and brighten some other man's pocket while the toil of the man who dug and toiled was his own home desolate. He is the man who saw the old parties were fighting sham battles over imaginary wrongs, while all these things went by unheeded and unheard, who saw the troubles were growing worse as the years rolled by. He is the man who had the courage and manhood to step out of the ranks of the old parties, break away from the accepted theories of the times and form and build up a new party, a party to side with the weak and oppressed, to fight the evils and wrongs. He is the man who stood by this young party in its infancy when its enemies clamored for its life with all the power they possessed, who stood by it when its leaders were rotten-eggs and called cranks, when its ranks were scorned and called demagogues and ignoramuses. He is the man though clouds of defeat may hover daily about him and the storms of adversity may howl around him he calmly and serenely views the future, realizing that he is fighting for the right. He looks beyond the clouds to the sunshine, beyond the storm to the calm. He is never discouraged. Many times his way has been hard, many times the paths have been rough, many times would he have gladly stepped aside to seek easier tasks, but ever duty would unveil her star-lit face. Tired, march on, for the day will come and the opportunity will come with it, when you will be able to lift manhood out of the valley of despond and place it on the sunny summits of peace and prosperity.
